Council Committee Favors City Zoning

Submits Report and Recommends That $5,000 be Appropriated—Referred to Finance Committee—Alderman Cashman Objects to City Spending Money—A Hot Discussion.

City zoning is needed in Kingston, according to the report of the special aldermanic committee on zoning, which has been considering the question for some time and submitted a favorable report at the regular monthly meeting of the common council Tuesday evening. The zoning committee believed that the sum of $5,000 should be appropriated to carry out the work, but requested that the matter of the appropriation be referred to the finance committee and the committee discharged.

Before the adoption of the report, however, there was considerable oratory on the part of Alderman Cashman of the Third ward, who said that if any civic organization wanted city zoning they should "dig down into their own pockets and fork out the $5,000, and not expect the citizens of Kingston to do it." The Third ward alderman made a desperate fight to have the report tabled but could only muster five votes to support his contention at the roll call.

Alderman Beichert Explains.
Alderman J. Philip Beichert of the Second ward, chairman of the special zoning committee, submitted the report, which will be found further on in this article. He stated that the committee, while it favored appropriating $5,000 to carry on the work and establish city zoning in Kingston, believed that the matter of the appropriation should be referred to the finance committee, which was later adopted.

Cashman's Idea.
Alderman Cashman amended the original resolution to the effect that the report be tabled. He said he did not see why the citizens of the city "should pay the freight." "If the Chamber of Commerce wants city zoning, said he, 'let them dig down into their own pockets and not ask us to do it. Every time they want something they come to us for the money.'"

Alderman Beichert secured the floor at this point and said that the committee had not reported as the Chamber of Commerce wanted it to, but had reported conditions as they found them and that the report had been favorable on account of the C. of C. but because the committee believed it was necessary to have zoning here.

"Are You a Member?"
"That may be all true," said Alderman Cashman, "but the Chamber of Commerce is asking here for $5,000 ain't they?"
"Are you a member of the Chamber of Commerce?" asked Alderman Kullmann of the Eighth ward, securing the floor while Alderman Cashman was recovering his breath.

"No," retorted Alderman Cashman shortly.
"Well, I am," said Alderman Kullmann.
"I know it," replied Alderman Cashman.

"The Chamber of Commerce," continued Alderman Kullmann, "is organized and is here to help work out and advance the best interests of the city. The Chamber of Commerce has been devoting considerable time to this zoning question, and it is an important question."

"That may be all true," retorted Alderman Cashman rising to his feet again, "but they are asking us for $5,000 ain't they?"
At this point Alderman Martin of the Twelfth ward, who had been elected presiding officer in the absence of President Dittus, who was in Poughkeepsie attending the conference, attempted to explain to Alderman Cashman that the Chamber of Commerce had no authority to draft an ordinance creating city zoning, but that it was a matter and one that should be handled by the city authorities, but Alderman Cashman did not care for any explanation from Alderman Martin.

"Point of order, Mr. Chairman," point of order," he said, jumping to his feet as Alderman Martin attempted to explain.

"But I only want to explain this to you," said Alderman Martin.
"We don't want your explanations," retorted Alderman Cashman, "we can work this out without your explanations. You are supposed to preside, not debate, this evening."

Council of the City of Kingston, N. Y. Gentlemen:
Your special committee on zoning, begs leave to report:
This committee was appointed to inquire into the matter of zoning restrictions and regulations for Kingston, with the idea that it would confer upon the matter with the special committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

After making considerable investigation and numerous inquiries upon our own responsibility, your committee met with the Chamber's committee and discussed the subject fully. The Chamber's committee which has been working upon this problem for upwards of two years, had already gathered together considerable data and information. This has been obtained from reliable sources by correspondence, questionnaire and personal inquiries.

Four Questions.
We find that the matter resolves into these four questions, the answers to which we have endeavored to find and herewith submit:

1. Is a zoning ordinance and its restrictions and regulations desirable for Kingston, at this time?
2. What people of Kingston desire such an ordinance now?
3. What is the best method of developing and applying the zoning idea and principle?
4. What is the approximate cost?

The Answers.
We are convinced that the answers to these questions are substantially as follows:

1. Is a zoning ordinance and its restriction and regulations desirable for Kingston, at this time?
We answer "Yes." Even a superficial inspection of Kingston shows that there are many abuses already in existence in the matter of misplaced or improperly placed buildings. That is, buildings of a character or use not suitable or suited to the locality. Residential sections, sections which undoubtedly should be kept as strictly residential—are being invaded by small and undesirable business structures, while sections that should be devoted wholly to sizable business, are being lowered in value by constructions of small and unattractive buildings which some day will have to be removed to make room for real business structures. Instances of both of these characters are numerous and every one tends to destroy not only the beauty and comfort of our otherwise attractive city, but also tends to destroy the permanent commercial value of real property. No proper restrictions in these respects, under a zoning ordinance, would be a hardship upon anyone, but would undoubtedly add to the sense of safety and security of values of property and be a lasting protection to the property rights of the individual citizen.

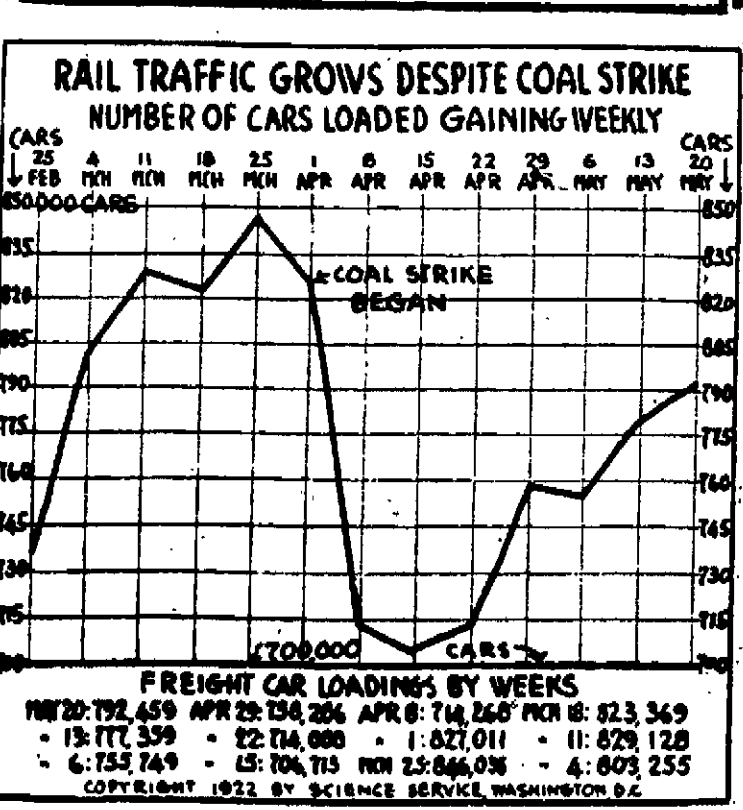

For example: A family purchasing or erecting a building for a home, in a restricted residential section, could rest assured that the adjoining property would and could not be used, in the near future, for an offensive or undesirable business. A merchant buying or erecting a modern and attractive store building, in a restricted business section, would feel his investment safe in that adjoining property would and could not become the site, even temporarily, of a cheap and unattractive store or shop. But these benefits would accrue not only to the individual, but inevitably would benefit the city at large, and make

WILSON PRESIDENT OF STATE MAYORS

Miller Addresses Conference on Home Rule—Hylan Speaks Tonight.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 7.—Mayor Thomas A. Wilson of Binghamton today was elected president of the state conference of mayors to succeed William J. Wallin of Yonkers. Other officials elected are:

Vice president, Mayor George R. Lunn of Schenectady; treasurer, Mayor William S. Hackert of Albany; secretary, William S. Capes of Albany.

The bureau council will be composed of Mayor Samuel A. Carlson of Jamestown, chairman; Mayor Fred A. Robbins of Hornell; Mayor Clarence D. Vanzandt of Rochester; Mayor James W. Fleming of Troy and Mayor James E. Burns of Glen Cove.

Much interest is displayed by members of the conference on what Mayor John F. Hylan of New York will have to say tonight on "The Human Side of Municipal Government." Mayor John H. Walrath of Syracuse will preside and introduce Mayor Hylan.

Governor Miller came down from Albany last night and talked on "The State and its Municipalities," which developed into an address on home rule. He said there was only one way the cities of the state would ever get real home rule, and that was:

First, the legislature must give the cities a grant of power.

Second, having given the cities a grant of power, the legislature should keep its hands off and the local governments should exercise that power.

MAYORS GIVEN POINTERS ON ACCOUNTING EFFICIENCY.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Poughkeepsie, June 7.—In his discussion of defects revealed by the examination of municipal accounts, C. R. Hall, director of the bureau of municipal accounts of the state comptroller's office, told the fiscal officers of the New York state municipalities at the annual meeting of city officials here this afternoon, that the main difficulty is to get municipal officials adequately to appreciate their responsibilities.

He urged that deputies or assistants in charge of municipal accounting problems should be qualified and have a tenure of office independent of political changes.

In most of the total number of municipalities over which the state comptroller is given certain supervisory control," said Mr. Hall, in concluding, "the great majority of the executive and administrative officials are capable performing important public service for moderate compensation and in some cases for no compensation."

Fireworks For 4th Set Off Aldermen

Discussion of Proper Celebration Led to Aldermanic Oratorical Blast—Bees, Streets, Board of Public Works and Other Matters Keep Common Council Busy—Auditing Committee to Report Later.

Alderman Macholdt's suggestion that the fireworks display this Fourth of July be held in the central section of the city on the grounds back of the high school led the common council in regular session Tuesday evening to stage an oratorical fireworks display of their own, and prolonged the meeting an hour.

The session was drawing to a more or less peaceful close when the alderman from the Ninth ward arose and said that there was $300 approximately in this year's budget to be expended for fireworks for the Fourth of July. It had been the custom for several years past to spend the money in giving two displays; one at Kingston Point and one at Forsyth Park.

"The central section of the city has been ignored," said Alderman Macholdt in earnest tones "and it is time that we got something there. What's the use of splitting up the $300 this year. Let's use it all for one display and have it behind the high school. There is plenty of room. We have been feeding one kitty all these years until it has grown fat. Now let's feed the other kitty and get them both fat."

Cashman Amends.
Since Alderman Cashman has become a member of the common council he has shown that he has had considerable training in public meetings, and there is no question of parliamentary ruling that can stick him for a minute. He is especially strong on offering amendments.

And so when Alderman Macholdt offered a resolution that the fireworks display be held back of the high school, which was amended by Alderman Martin to have the display both up and down town as usual, Alderman Cashman offered an amendment to the amendment that the display be held at the Athletic Field.

Cashman Wants Big Celebration.
"Let's make this a rousing celebration," suggested Alderman Cashman in offering his amendment.

"Let's send out invitations and hold a big parade that evening and then close with fireworks at the Athletic Field."

Martin Takes Floor.
Alderman Martin attempted to speak from the presiding officer's chair, but Alderman Cashman's persistent "Mr. Chairman, I rise to a point of order," led the Twelfth ward alderman to request Alderman Van Wagenen to take the chair to give him a chance to free his mind on the floor of the council chamber.

Alderman Martin said the people were accustomed to having the display in Forsyth Park and at Kingston Point, and that it should be done again this year. The managers of the two hospitals would object to having the display back of the high school. Another thing, there were places to park cars at Kingston Point and at Forsyth Park.

"Park Every Car in City."
"That's nothing," retorted Alderman Macholdt, coming to the defense of his resolution. "There is enough room back of the high school to park every auto in Kingston. As far as disturbing the hospitals, that is all poppycock."

"The Kingston City Hospital objected to the U. & D. Railroad whistles but instead of building the operating room in front toward Broadway and further away from the tracks, what did they do? Why, they built it right over the railroad tracks. As far as the Benedictine Hospital is concerned, there is enough noise in that vicinity what with blasting and ball games for them to mind a display of fireworks."

"Don't believe all this hear about hospitals objecting to the noise. We can have a lot of set pieces and they don't make much noise when they go off."

Alderman Beichert was also in favor of having the fireworks back of the high school, as was Alderman Behrens.

How About Kingston Point?
Alderman Mann wanted to know "How about Kingston Point?" You want a safe place to fire off the fireworks and that is the best place you can get. Have the entire $300 worth there. It's a nice trolley ride down to the point and mothers like to take their children there.

"The Point's Dead."
"What's the use of talking like that?" asked Alderman Cashman. "I'll leave it to any one if Kingston Point Park is not dead since the city is not running it. There is nothing there to amuse the children. All that playground stuff the city removed at the trolley road's request and what have you got left—nothing."

"Stuck At Kingston Point."
"Talking about the people taking a trolley ride to Kingston Point," said Alderman Behrens, "why when you go down there on a holiday like I have you have to wait until 3 o'clock in the morning to get back home as the trolley road has not got enough enough cars to accommodate the public."

Uptown And Downtown.
After some more discussion of the matter Alderman Martin's amendment that a parade be held that evening and fireworks be displayed at Forsyth Park and at Kingston Point, was adopted by a vote of 7 to 5.

Alderman Van Wagenen appointed as such a committee: Aldermen Martin, Mann, Buchholz, Williams and Joy.

This committee will decide whether the downtown display will be held at Hasbrouck Park or Kingston Point. Uptown the display will be held at Forsyth Park.

Laid On Table.
Alderman Martin moved to amend an ordinance regulating public auctions in the city, which now required them to close at sundown, to remain open until 11 o'clock. The amendment was laid on the table.

Bus Owners Beware.
Alderman Cashman called attention to the state law requiring all busses to stop before crossing a railroad track. He said that the law was not being obeyed in Kingston and that the busses never stopped at the Broadway crossing or at any of the other crossings.

Alderman Martin introduced a resolution that the police department notify the bus owners that the law must be complied with which was adopted.

"Be-Ware."
Residents of Linderman avenue and Delta Place sent in a petition requesting the aldermen to compel William J. Whiston of 121 Linderman avenue to remove his bees to a point outside the city limits—the further away the better. They claimed the bees were a public nuisance and spotted clothing hung on the lines in the yards and also the windows. The petition was referred to the board of health.

More Light on North Front.
A number of the merchants of North Front street, between Wall and Crown streets, submitted a petition that the lights be replaced in front of 35 and 53 North Front street, and to install two additional lights one in front of 46 North Front street and the other at the corner of North Front and Crown streets.

The council before referring the matter to the board of public works went on record as approving the petition.

Audit Bills Later.
Alderman Macholdt after the reading of bills and claims against the city moved that they be referred to the auditing committee who would make a report at a special meeting two weeks from that night.

Alderman Macholdt and Alderman Cashman believed that the bills should not be audited the same night as read as has been custom but should be laid over for two weeks to give the auditing committee more opportunity to consider them.

After a lengthy discussion the council decided to meet June 20 and audit bills and transact any other matters that may come up.

To Meet July 5.
The council also decided to hold the July meeting on Wednesday evening, July 5, instead of the Fourth.

To Await on P. B. W.
Alderman Macholdt called attention to the fact that the board of public works was not in attendance at the meeting, and suggested that a committee of five be appointed to wait on the board. "If the board won't come to us," said he, "let's go to the board and find out why, the streets we ask for are not fixed."

Need Stone Said Ryan.
Alderman Ryan of the Thirteenth ward lives in Wilbur near the city stone quarry, and he informed his brother alderman that the reason there was delay in fixing streets was due to the fact that the board of public works was making but little progress in repairing the bins at the stone crushing plant in Wilbur. "They may get the work done and the quarry working before the present administration goes out of office, but I doubt it," said Alderman Ryan.

The Committee Appointed.
Alderman Martin appointed as such a committee Aldermen Cashman, Macholdt, Ryan, Beichert and Joy, who will wait on the board of public works at the meeting later in the month.

Sewers Completed.
It was reported that the Derrenbacher street sewer had been completed at a cost of $1,137.44 of which amount the property owners pay 5 per cent or $53.98, and the city 25 per cent or $284.36.

City Assessor Johnston also reported that he had laid the special assessment of $8,808.88 for the Main street extension sewer, and the assessment was confirmed by the council.

Check Up Franchises.
Alderman Beichert offered a resolution that the proper authorities check up the franchises of all bus lines operating in the city and report

New Rifton Power Development Started

Bankers and Newspaper Men Shown Big Scope of Installation at Old Powder Mill—Will Back Water up to Dashville Falls and Give Total of 30,000 Horsepower.

A number of bankers and newspaper men from the central Hudson valley attended a picnic and inspection trip Tuesday as the guests of the United Hudson Electric Corporation and during the day inspected the site of the latest water power development at Rifton. The present water power plant at Dashville Falls was first inspected and then a tour of inspection was made over the site of the proposed dam across the mouth of the Walkkill creek near its junction with the Rondout creek. This proposed dam will impound the waters of the Walkkill creek and back the water up to a height equal to the two falls at the old Rifton carpet mills. When the dam is completed and the storage reservoir is filled both these falls will cease to exist and there will be slack water up to the foot of the Dashville Falls.

When completed this plant will give the company one of the largest hydro-electric plants in this section and will give a total capacity at Rifton of about 30,000 horse power.

Dashville a Model Plant.
The electric station at Dashville Falls was first inspected and from this station a small idea of the importance of the entire Rifton development could be learned. At the Dashville Falls plant there are two 3,600 h. p. generators, driven by turbines, which supply electric energy which is sent out from this station over the high tension line of the company. The current developed is of 6,600 volt pressure which is sent through transformers located outside the power house which step it up to 66,000 volts and at this high voltage it goes over to the fifty miles of double circuit, steel tower transmission lines connecting either directly or indirectly with practically all the generating sources and distributing systems in the Central Hudson Valley.

The Dashville Falls plant is one of the most modern and up-to-date power stations in the country. For years the power of the Dashville Falls went to waste except for a small amount of power which was used on the Dimmock estate there. When it was determined to develop the power from the falls and use it to generate electric current a dam was constructed across the creek so as to control the water and the present modern hydro-electric plant was built. The present level of the creek at this point is very little higher than it naturally was.

At Dashville there is a natural dam in the Walkkill which was to a great extent used in the construction.

Preliminary Work Begun.
After an inspection of the Dashville Falls plant the party was taken down the road to the site of the latest and biggest development. At a point near where the old saw-mill was located north of the village of Rifton on the "powder mill" property, a road leads off to the site of the new power station. The dam which will impound the waters of the Walkkill will be located on the lands of the old powder mills which thrived there for so many years.

The importance of this power site was first realized long before the Civil War when a powder mill was located there and used the power of the water falls. However, the falls on the powder mill property are mostly low falls and rapids but numerous and each one of these small falls was used to turn water wheels. Up at the Rifton carpet mills there are two larger falls.

The whole section has been secured by the electric company which will now construct one large dam and combine the several small falls into one great power station.

Work has already been started on the preliminary job. Tuesday the inspection party found that the survey of the land had been completed, brush and trees cleared from the site of the new dam and test borings had been made to determine the foundation rock upon which the big dam will be built.

Dam 500 Feet Long.
No better site for a dam could be desired than that which United Hudson Electric Corporation has at Rifton. The test borings made show the rock to be a hard sandstone, solid and ideal for a foundation. The one dam which will be about 500 feet long is the only construction necessary and the dam once built will flood a natural valley forming a gigantic pond with storage capacity of sufficient amount to insure a constant supply of power.

Water Twice Used.
After running through the turbines at the upper falls at Dashville the water will flow into this storage pond and from there will again flow through the turbines located at the second floor or lower dam, thus doing double work.

Construction Will Soon Start.
Construction on the lower dam will start within a very short time and will be completed in about one year. October, 1923, being the estimated date of completion. The dam will be of a different construction than the upper dam at Dash-ville. It will be 112 feet high and instead of the water flowing over the top of the dam in times of high water, the surplus water will be allowed to escape from the bottom of the dam through "butterfly" valves which will be electrically controlled from the power station so that in times of high water the man in charge of the station will be able to open just sufficient valves to allow the excess water to flow through the dam and into "Sturgeon Pool" which is located at the foot of the proposed dam.

Practically the entire property of the old powder mill will be flooded, the water level will be at the top of the dam across the small creek at the site of the old sawmill on the state road at the small bridge just north of the hotel.

Drains 780 Square Miles.
The Walkkill river and its many small tributaries which contribute to the water supply drain an area of 780 square miles so that there is sufficient drainage area to insure a constant supply of water for power development.

When the water of the lower falls is harnessed and developing power this lower plant will have a capacity of approximately three times the capacity of the present station located at Dashville Falls.

From the inspection trip Tuesday it is evident even to a layman that in the development of the water power of the Walkkill the United Hudson Electric Corporation has an immensely valuable proposition and the development of this water power is going a long way toward the welfare of the immediate locality and the entire central Hudson valley.

Actual construction work will be started on the dam probably within a month, and by October of next year the plant will undoubtedly be in operation.

JURY'S VERDICT IS FOR MARTIN

In county court the jury in No. 12, Martin and ano. against Chambers and another, an action to recover money paid on agreement to purchase a second hand automobile, which plaintiff alleged was not as represented, retired to deliberate about 4 o'clock, Tuesday afternoon. In less than half an hour the jury returned and announced a verdict in favor of plaintiffs in $100, the amount paid at time of contract, with costs. Frank W. Brooks was attorney for plaintiffs, William D. Brimmer, Sr., for defendants.

Court then took a recess until 10 o'clock this morning.

DAIRY LEAGUE ANNUAL MEETING

Farmers from nearly 1,000 communities of League territory, embracing six states, will gather at the state armory, Utica, N. Y., on June 15, at the annual meeting of the Dairyman's League Cooperative Association, Inc.

Approximately 900 delegates representing as many local associations of the League, will attend the meeting. While the by-laws allow only regularly elected delegates to officially take part in the meeting and vote on questions that come up, nevertheless all dairymen who have signed the pooling contract and are members of the Cooperative Association will be welcomed. It is expected that a large number will be present.

The regular hour for the annual meeting according to the bylaws will be 1 p. m. standard time. However, on account of the large amount of work to be done at this meeting, an unofficial meeting will be held at 10 a. m. standard time. One of the principal addresses of the day will be delivered at this forenoon session. The annual reports of the officers will be made in the afternoon. It is expected that J. D. Miller, vice president and general counsel of the association, will address the afternoon session.

The annual meeting of the Cooperative Association has been held each year since 1919, but it has never before been a delegates' meeting. This year, and hereafter, it will be a meeting of delegates, because the poolers are now functioning through their locals in electing their directors and conducting their business. The organization is now one of poolers only, and the 900 newly organized local associations throughout the territory have taken the place of the locals of the old Dairyman's League, Inc.

When a reformer spends $124,000 to get a nomination it looks as if judicious efforts to work reform among the reformers would not be amiss.

Chicago adds more than 50,000 to its population yearly, but unfortunately its corruption and crime—according to its chief newspaper—are increasing more rapidly still.

"Tom" Watson is getting worse. Twice lately he has threatened to "beat up" a speaker with whom he differed. The Senate of the United States has some curious specimens, but they include nothing quite so extraordinary as the fire-eater from Georgia.

The fate of Horatio Bottomley, editor of John Bull, recalls the saying of Dr. Johnson that patriotism is the last refuge of a scoundrel. The man whose hatred and denunciation of America were supposed by no few Englishmen to indicate intense love for his own country has now been sentenced to seven years of hard labor for appropriating funds of war victims to his own use.

HOUSING THE GUEST.

There is no doubt that the business depression which settled over the United States at the close of the World War with the resultant shut down of war industries is passing, and the United States Employment Service is probably correct in forecasting that "June will accentuate the upward movement."

Evidence of returning prosperity and renewal of normal growth is apparent in the city of Kingston and throughout Ulster county. The shortage of housing facilities which was extremely acute furnished a serious problem which is being solved gradually but nevertheless in a satisfactory way. Any community has reason to indulge in pardonable pride when it knows that new houses are being built by the men and women who will occupy them, and that is the condition prevailing generally in this city and county.

With an increasing population, there will remain the problem of furnishing homes to rent-payers. Not everyone can own his own home. Wages and salaries probably never will be such that every householder can be the owner of the home he lives in. There are other considerations also which in particular affect the men and women who could buy or build their own homes but the character of whose business makes their length of service in any particular place uncertain. And of course there is the large number who give no forethought for the morrow but prefer to spend as they go, to whom one habitation is like another, to whom "home" has little significance.

In order to take care of new residents as well as the permanent population who either prefer or by circumstances are compelled to pay rent, a continuation of the present building program throughout the county will be necessary if Ulster is to reap the benefits of the era of prosperity which has been "just around the corner" but now is coming into full view. The surest way to drive away prosperity is to shut the door of welcome. Failure to provide homes for our permanent population or for newcomers so long as we are able to do so means nothing less than shutting the door.

Neither the city of Kingston nor the county of Ulster are untried experiments. They are permanent. There is not any of the border town boom with its resultant risk connected with our growth. Our population is permanent. Our industries are sufficiently diversified to minimize the general effect of depression in business when it does occur periodically. Real estate development has proved advantageous in the past. The prospect for the future is even better. We should welcome prosperity, but the heartiness of the welcome will be more impressive and likely of response if we provide proper lodgings.

1. Why do birds eat all the time? They have to, to keep their own furnaces fed, so to speak, or to keep up energy. Birds have high temperature, rapid circulation, and power to digest very rapidly. Hence they must constantly find fuel to renew what is consumed. Unless well fed they cannot fly vigorously, to escape enemies, and locate new food supply.
2. Is honey spoiled when it has turned to candy? Not necessarily. Some very pure honey turns to granules quicker than other kinds, depending on the blossoms from which it was gleaned. Alfalfa blossoms is said to yield a nectar that in honey quickly granulates. Stand the jar in which it is bottled in a kettle of hot water and it will soon melt.
3. I am sending a specimen caught in a trap—is it a mole or a mouse? Do these animals cross? The specimen was identified as a common shrew. Shrews, personatus, sometimes called long-tailed shrew. It is neither mole nor mouse. These do not cross. It belongs to Order Insectivora, and feeds on earthworms, beetles, slugs, grubs, etc. also some beechnuts and tuberous roots. These small animals spend their time wandering under leaves or grasses or piles of logs, or pushing their way through punky wood of old stumps, hunting for food.

The parade of the high school pupils with band from the school to the Kingston Fair Grounds where the baseball game with the Poughkeepsie team was played attracted much attention Tuesday afternoon. There were about forty boys ahead on bicycles, followed by a number of the men of the faculty, next a large contingent of high school students, behind being a large division of girls, a trolley car filled with boy and girl students and a few loaded autos.

PINKS ALL THE YEAR.

The ginkgo or maidenhair tree has bright yellow foliage that is most useful in ornamental plantings, says the American Forestry Magazine. Not only is the color a clear pure yellow, but the peculiar shape of the leaf gives a texture to the tree that is quite different from others. The leaves are shaped much like the pinnae, that is, the smallest divisions of the frond of the maidenhair fern, very much enlarged. The tree is attractive at all seasons.

REGENTS' EXAM'S AT HIGH SCHOOL

The board of regents has issued the following program of examinations to be taken at the Kingston High School the week of June 19 to 23. Although it is stated upon the program that the examinations begin at 9:15 a. m. and 1:15 p. m., respectively it is necessary that every candidate for regents honors present himself at the examination halls promptly at 9:00 a. m. and 1:00 p. m. The reason for this is that all enrollments may be filled out and rules read by the examiners concerning the examinations. The hours 9:15 a. m. and 1:15 p. m. are the hours set forth by the board for the opening of the sealed envelopes containing the examination papers and their distribution. Each examination is of three hours in length. In case a candidate has two examinations confronting him the same time, he is allowed ample time for the proper answering of the two papers. All paper, pens, ink and blotters are supplied by the school.

Misses Louisa, Louise and Lillian Buissett, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Buissett of Punxsutawney, Pa., are members of the graduating class 1922, of the Punxsutawney High School and are believed to be the only triplets in this country graduating from the same class at the same time. The girls were born in Eldred, Pa., May 18, 1903. They have dressed alike since childhood, but no matter how badly their clothes may be mixed up at night they could always pick out their own garments in the morning.

MORE ABOUT GIRL SCOUT CAMP

In addition to the manager of the Girl Scout camp at Ideal Park, Miss Margaret S. Bridge, the following assistants will collaborate with Miss Bridge: First assistant, Miss Frances Hendricks (Roman Catholic), who was at the Manhattan Scout Camp last summer. She is a gymnasium teacher in New Haven, Conn., and leader of the Scout Officers' Group in New Haven, a young woman in her twenties, of attractive personality.

The second assistant will be Miss Margaret Edinger, 1921 graduate of the Kingston High School. She has been one year at the Sargent School of Physical Training, with special training at Sargent Camp during June of last year.

Miss May Davis of the home economics department of the high school, will have supervision of the cooking. All parents wishing to send their daughters to the camp this summer are asked to register them (22 accompanying the registration) with Miss Martha Davis at 74 John street or with Miss Stener at the high school as soon as possible. The camp is equipped for 20 girls, but with more equipment the place and the leaders engaged will make it quite possible to take just as good care of 30 girls at a time.

Miss Davis will be in her office on John street on Saturday between the hours of 9 a. m. and 12 m. to register girls for the camp.

THE OFFICE CAT

By Zuck

A man's home used to be his castle, now it's his wife's card club headquarters.

Seem So.

The last member of the famous Light Brigade has died again! These boys are certainly immortal.

"U. S. has half of the world's gold,"—headline. If you don't believe it look at people's teeth.

The Difference.

"The main difference 'twixt me an' my boy Jim," explained the farmer, "is that when I put in a day at work I don't feel like runnin' 'round nights, and when Jim puts in a night runnin' 'round he don't feel much like workin' days."

In Delaware there is a town that boasts of a female fire company. Chances are that they use silk hose.

And to think that just about two years ago that word "prescription" had a fine reputation!

A Helpful Hint.

"Hey, you!" called a disgruntled customer in the rapid fire restaurant, "My cocoa's cold!" "Well, why'n't ya put on your hat?" briskly returned Heloise the waitress.

The old man found he could not go up a flight of stairs as fast as he once could. But he could come down as fast as he ever did.

We admire men for their perfections. We love them for their failings, for it makes them one of ourselves.

Modern Epitaphs.

Mary Snooks has gone from hence. Synthetic gin is not good sense.

Stares.

The vamp went up the winding stairs. The hick behind her followed. She stopped and stooped to tie her shoe. His chewing gum he swallowed.

His Choice.

Tommy was permitted to go in and see his new twin brothers. After looking at them a moment he said, "Keep the red-headed one, ma, 'cause he'll be the best fighter."

What Artistic Plunk.

The new silver dollar may be improvement from an artistic point of view, but it is just as hard to earn and just as easy to spend as the old one.

PHOENICIA.

Phoenicia, June 6.—Mrs. H. Brothaupt led the league meeting Sunday evening.

The Epworth League business meeting and social was held Friday evening and quite a company was present although it rained very hard. Considerable business was transacted and the election of officers was held. The president Lorna Van Demark, the first vice-president Mrs. A. P. Loomis, secretary Mrs. Clancy, treasurer Harriet Loomis and Mrs. Keene third vice-president were re-elected. Mrs. Meeker was elected second vice-president in the place of Mrs. McLaren and Mrs. H. Brothaupt was made fourth vice-president in place of Mrs. W. Smith. Karl Neice was elected assistant secretary and Mary Van Steenburgh re-elected organist. Refreshments were served at the close.

A cloudburst this side of Shandaken Saturday afternoon soon flooded things but fortunately the rain stopped in time to allow the water to run off before very serious damage was done, but it made a good many get busy and protect cellars and homes. It covered the U. & D. track in several places. The milk train was stalled below the Kensy place and did not get out of here until quite late in the night. The creek rose very rapidly and among the articles it brought down was a plow and a wheel barrow. They were still on the "go" when last seen.

Invitations are out for the fiftieth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Madison Longyear.

The Rev. Vaughn and family were in the place this week.

The Rev. Holly, representative of the Anti-Saloon League, gave a fine sermon Sunday morning in the M. E. Church. He called attention to those who want prohibition done away with and told of the results of prohibition.

A fellow, hatless, coatless, was running around in the rain about 8:30 o'clock Monday evening. He came from the village over to High street and inquired the way to get on the road going to Kingston. He was quite wet and acted as if under a great nervous strain. When told he had come off the road going to Kingston he started back. Here is another instance where someone with the "ble fellowshp" should have learned his wants and rendered the aid according to it.

What about the "movies" When will they move here?

Quite a number attended the ball game at Shandaken.

A Good Reputation plus a Better Price — $10.90

THE new low mark of $10.90 for the 30x3 1/2 size "Usco" created something of a sensation.

Naturally, the first impulsive remark was on the "wonderful price."

Even more to the point are the comments of today.

People are getting more used to the $10.90 price—but the "Usco" value is still a cause for wonder.

With thousands of $10.90 "Uscos" running today, every locality has had a chance to check up on this surprising tire value.

Let all these "Usco" Tires now serving their owners so well remind you of this—

Whatever the price of "Usco," it has got to deliver big value because it has always done so.

Silk underwear keeps its color and lustre washed this way, says Van Raalte

THE smart silhouette demands them, these sheer cobwebby underthings that breathe Paris. They are irresistible in their pastel daintiness and fillet lace, their delicate ribbons and picot edging.

And you can keep them colorful and lovely if you wash them the safe Lux way. For Lux will not harm anything that pure water alone will not harm. Your grocer, druggist or department store has Lux. Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

Gentlemen:

No silk undergarment gets harder usage than a vest, so we had three flesh-colored silk vests, of sheer, medium and heavy quality, laundered in Lux the average number of times an undergarment is washed before it wears out.

The vests lost astonishingly little color—there was practically no fading. In fact, at the end of the washings, they were about as soft and lustrous as when new.

We attribute our success with Lux especially to its purity. A harsh soap or harsh soap flake is ruinous to silk. The mild Lux lather cleanses so quickly and with such gentleness that it is impossible for it to injure the garment. We are glad to recommend it to the women who wear our silk underwear.

Very truly yours,

B. van Raalte

First American Piano.

Evidence seems to prove that the piano was invented by Bartolomeo Christofori, a harpsichord maker of Padua in 1710. A half century later pianos were manufactured in England by German mechanics. The first American piano was made in Boston in 1822 by a firm that has continued to make that instrument for a hundred years.

COMMITTEE FAVORS ZONING

Investments and Improvements in real estate more attractive, while adding materially to the real property valuation.

Property Values Improved. That real property values are improved and stabilized by zoning regulations, is evidenced very clearly in cities where such regulations have been in force, by the increased loan values of property and the greater readiness with which loan companies and private mortgagees advance and loan money upon property thus protected, against depreciation, in the manner we have already pointed out. Added to this is the sense of comfort and satisfaction of the individual citizen, in knowing for a certainty that his building and property are protected against invasion by some undesirable and unsuitable use or building in his immediate vicinity.

This, indeed, is no small consideration; it is, in fact, the real impelling motive which causes people generally to desire and approve the principle of zoning.

Residents Desire Zoning. 2. Do the people of Kingston desire such an ordinance at once?

Again, we answer "Yes." While it is true that there are individuals who are opposed to this proposition—as there are always those who are opposed to any and every civic improvement—it has been found that nearly all of such opposition arises out of a misunderstanding of the purposes, methods and details of zoning, and, as a rule, when they have come to know the real purpose and the methods usually adopted, they have become sincere advocates of zoning. Public meetings have been held in this city on this question and very many inquiries made of citizens, and the results all point unmistakably to the fact that the public generally desires to obtain the benefits of zoning, just as quickly as possible. Very many other cities have seen the need and benefits of a reasonable restrictive ordinance and have long since adopted and applied the same, with gratifying results.

The Best Method. 3. What is the best method of developing and applying the zoning idea and principle?

To make building and business restrictions and regulations, in a city, if a very difficult and intricate problem, and calls for experience in that special work and expert aid and advice.

We believe that our city engineer's department can and would be of much service in preparing the required maps to carry out a proper and reasonable ordinance, but we also are convinced that there is no local citizen or official who has either the time or has had the necessary experience and information along this line, to give us proper and satisfactory results. We have come to this conclusion after most careful consideration of the subject and inquiry into the methods adopted elsewhere, and we therefore report, without hesitation, that proper and satisfactory zoning can be outlined only by some one who has had the necessary experience in other places, and has become expert in this subject.

Cost Not Over $5,000. 4. What is the approximate cost?

We believe that all the work required, including the surveys, maps, ordinance and services of experts will not exceed $5,000. We hesitate to call this a "cost," although it is undoubtedly an outlay on the part of the city, but it is, in fact, an investment, in our opinion, which will return to the city of Kingston, in stabilized and improved property values, many times the original expenditure, and will be a continuing source of profit for years to come.

We therefore recommend that the city take the necessary initial steps to obtain a zoning ordinance at once, by appointing a special committee to take charge of the matter of survey, investigation maps, etc., and that $5,000 be appropriated to carry out and provide everything necessary to such end, and for that purpose a resolution to that effect is herewith submitted.

Dated, May, 1922.
Respectfully submitted,
J. PHILIP DEICHERT,
Chairman.

HOGAN STARTS CIVIL SUIT AGAINST DAY LINE.

Summons in a supreme court action for $10,000 damages and injuries, has been served in behalf of Jack D. Hogan, president of the Norwood Hotel Company, against the Hudson River Day Line, through their agent, Richard H. Barrett of Catskill.

Barrett, according to Hogan's complaint, forcibly ejected him from the portico of the boat pavilion to which hotel agents and hackmen are forbidden admission.

Hogan swore out a warrant for Barrett's arrest, but failed to appear against him Monday morning before Justice Waggoner. Later Hogan offered a statement by Dr. George L. Branch, which described his condition as such as to make appearance impossible. An affidavit was also presented from Dr. Lillian Honeyford, coroner.

The criminal action has been dropped and a civil action substituted. Trial is asked at the November term.

TAX QUESTION MOST IMPORTANT, SAYS SENATOR.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Poughkeepsie, June 7.—"Equalize, Simplify and Reduce Taxes," was suggested as a slogan for the future in government in New York state by Senator Frederick M. Davison at the annual meeting of the state conference of mayors and other city officials, here last evening. He expressed the opinion that the cities, counties, towns and villages should lose nothing of their present revenue as the result of necessary changes in the state system of taxation, but he believed careful economy should be worked out in the administration of local government in order that apportioned state revenues may be used to the greatest advantage for the welfare of the people.

Diagnosed.

An Irishman on a short visit to London for the first time happened to pass by the houses of parliament. He cast an interested eye at Big Ben and, after a little consideration, accordingly adjusted his watch by it.

The next day he happened to pass by again and pulled out his watch to see if it was correct. He looked very bewildered when he found that his timepiece had gained five minutes.

With a final glance, full of contempt and scorn at the towering Big Ben, he turned away, muttering to himself: "Arrah, ye great big spalpeen! Fancy letting a little watch beat ye!"

BUSY AT VETERANS' BUREAU

Leon Fraser, Executive Officer, Has Had Broad Experience in Army and Business Life.

Looking after old members of the A. E. F. comes natural to Leon Fraser, executive officer of the United States Veterans' bureau, with headquarters in Washington, D. C. Back in the historic days of 1917 he leaped into the army as a private. Hard work and strict attention to duty brought him, grade by grade, and rank by rank up to a major. The war ended and he remained a major. If the end hadn't come he would probably be wearing a colonel's eagle at least.

Though he left the vice presidency of the Differential Steel company of Findlay, O., when war was declared, he started at the bottom of the Veterans' bureau and again worked up toward the top. His life has been varied. It started in Boston, wound its way through North Granville, N. Y., where he made his home for a short time, through Columbia university, took him as a cub reporter on the New York World, and safely passed the bar examination, after which he practiced law. The action of the French government in decorating him with the Order of the Silver Polis and a special citation from General Pershing were just incidents of his wartime service.

Col. Charles R. Forbes is Fraser's boss now. When his colonel is away Fraser is director of the Veterans' bureau, and as such tends to the destinies of thousands of wounded ex-soldiers. The members of his Legion post thought so much of Fraser that they have elected him vice commander.

TAYLOR WAS GOOD BAD MAN

Former Bandit and Holdup Artist Put His Knowledge to Good Use During War.

Joe Taylor was once an automobile bandit and holdup man. His activities along these lines landed him in jail. Unlike many another criminal Taylor didn't leave the prison with a vow to retaliate on society. Instead, by straight living and study he overcame the obstacles that were incident to his former record and became a lecturer.

His part in the war was one of the most dangerous. He put his knowledge of anarchists at the government's use. To stand on a street corner and refuse to lift your hat when the flag went by during war times took real nerve, but Taylor did it as part of his duty with the secret service. Through these and similar acts he got to know those who plotted to blow up munition plants and waterways. This information was used to thwart anarchism and resulted in several carefully planned explosions never taking place.

No post of the Legion is so small or so bad off financially that Joe Taylor won't visit it and tell of his experiences. In and around New York Taylor's talk, "The Partnership Between Politics and Crime," is getting to be well known and a demand for his services has been created among Legion men.

"FREE EMBLEM OF FREEDOM"

Washington State Americanism Director Would Liberate Eagles Now Held in Captivity.

"Freedom to our emblem of freedom" is the slogan of Dr. William C. Hicks, Seattle, Wash., in urging that all American eagles now in captivity be released. Dr. Hicks, who is Americanism director of the Washington department of the American Legion, has enlisted the aid of Legion posts, the Adlon society and various patriotic organizations in his campaign.

"The eagle was made for mountain crags and high spaces," Dr. Hicks says. "As long as the bird typifies American freedom, it should be contrary to law to hold any of the species in captivity."

Cruel Feeling.

A Connecticut woman played an April fool trick on her husband by telling him she was going to sue for divorce, when she had no intention of doing it. Some women don't know the difference between a joke and a disappointment.

WILL BOX AT LEGION MEET

Two Ministers Are to Step Into Squared Arena at Washington State Convention.

For perhaps the first time in history two ministers of the gospel are going to box in the squared arena for the benefit of the audience. Rev. John W. Beard, pastor of the First Presbyterian church at Hoquiam, Wash., and Rev. Earl A. Blackman, national chaplain of the American Legion, will "mix it up" at the Legion state convention in Wenatchee, Wash., this fall.

Reverend Beard, who served as "sky pilot" with the old Ninety-first division in France, boxed John Dickenson, veteran of the British forces, at a recent meeting of his own Legion post. The Legion's national chaplain is an ardent boxing adherent himself. Though a pastor of a Kansas church, he finds time to act as boxing referee occasionally and dons the gloves himself just to keep in trim. Prior to his entering the ministry he was known as a track and football star.

That his title of "fighting chaplain" isn't at all amiss is shown by a glance at Reverend Beard's war record. One doesn't think of a chaplain as having a war record, but Reverend Blackman's future opponent served with the Three Hundred and Sixty-first infantry, "Wildcat" division with the rank of captain. He was awarded the French Croix de Guerre and received a citation from the American government. The war over, he jumped into the Legion and was elected state chaplain for the department of Washington.

STILL AIDS EX-SERVICE MEN

Mrs. John Marshall, Kentucky, National Committeewoman, Active in After-War Work.

Mrs. John Marshall of Anchorage, Ky., known to thousands of ex-service men who were stationed in the Blue Grass state during the war and who visited the fief cross-canteen to be served with coffee and doughnuts, is still doing her large "bit" for the sick and wounded ex-service men. As national executive committee woman for the American Legion Auxiliary from Kentucky, she is especially active in all the things that her organization is doing.

Her latest plan results in Louisville, Ky., having a boarding home for ex-service men who are taking vocational training there. Nominal fees, a huge living room and library and a real home atmosphere, are high points in the life of the "boys" who make their home with Mrs. Marshall.

More than 300,000 service men were cared for at the canteen presided over by Mrs. Marshall during the war. Her experiences with the soldiers and sailors are many. Months after the armistice she received a letter from a service man whose wedding supper she had prepared in 1917. It read, "Mrs. Canteen Lady, can you help me find my wife, not that she is much account, but I want to get married again and must find her first."

NEW "RADIO BUG" IS POPULAR

American Legion Posts Are Enjoying Programs; Supplied for Hospital Patients.

The new "radio bug" is particularly popular with ex-service men. Everywhere reports come into the American Legion of radio-phones being installed in Legion clubhouses and in hospitals and camps.

Recently the Legion post at Omaha, Neb., was all ready to stage a big dance—but no music arrived. An ex-gob was called upon to "do something quick." So he rigged up his wireless, listened in on Chicago, and very soon the company was merrily stepping around to the strains of music played by an orchestra hundreds of miles away.

Hospitals in North Carolina are taking up the radio idea as a means of supplying recreation for sick and wounded men. The Legion has installed a phone at the government hospital near Asheville, and ex-doughboys can hear anything from Al Jolson to Madame Jorizta.

Carrying On With the American Legion

Women in Kansas have organized to fight for adjusted compensation. Mrs. Ida Walker, who introduced the state bonus bill, wants ex-soldiers to be compensated also.

Emergency officers of the World war will be retired on an equal basis with regular army officers by the terms of the American Legion's Bursum bill, which has passed the senate.

Harjine's home favors adjusted compensation. The chamber of commerce and the Leg'm post at Marion, O., have both asked congress to pass the pending bill to relieve soldiers.

Raw Onion Purifies Air. Disease germs cannot flourish in the veins of any person who makes a habit of eating the humble but invaluable onion. In remote villages the old custom still exists of placing a plate full of sliced onion beside the bed or coffin of any person who has died of an infectious disease. Although those who follow this practice cannot explain it, the fact is that the raw onion destroys germs and purifies the infected air of the death chamber.

FINISH FIGHT ON RAIL WAGE CUT

Strike Ballots on Way to 1,200,000. Affected and Alliance With Striking Miners Grows More Probable. Chicago, June 7.—Railroad labor today has thrown down the gauntlet to its employers and to the United States Railway Labor Board, and is squaring away for a finish fight on the wage cut issue. Every indication coming from headquarters of the rail unions, whose wages have been reduced more than $100,000,000 annually in two recent decisions of the labor board, is that no quarter will be given and that the campaign will be fought to a definite conclusion.

Strike ballots are in the mail today to more than 1,200,000 members of the railway employees' department of the American Federation of Labor, the Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees and other labor organizations affected by the wage cuts.

Although no overtures for an active alliance with the striking coal miners have been made, so far as has been learned here, the possibility of the defensive alliance with the coal miners taking a positive form that eventually would culminate in one of the greatest industrial tie-ups in the history of the nation, is not discounted by observers of the situation.

In a statement that accompanied the announcement of the strike vote, B. M. Jewell, president of the railway employees' department of the American Federation of Labor, said: "By no stretch of facts can this decision (the $60,000,000 wage cuts for shopmen announced yesterday) be justified. I am astounded that a body of the board's prestige and dignity should be willing to send out such a hastily dressed-up and obviously unfair apology for rates of pay awarded."

County court convened this morning at 10 o'clock and the action brought by Minnie Story and another as administratrix of William H. Story, deceased, against Mary J. Dutcher, a mortgage foreclosure, was taken up for trial by Judge Fowler without a jury.

All jurors were excused until Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. There is but one more case to be tried at this term of court, No. 8, Fisher against Duffner, an action on contract, being announced as settled when the case was called this morning.

No. 17, Colonial Works, Inc., against Daniel J. Murphy, an action on a note, is the only remaining case on the calendar which will be tried.

The defense set up in the action is that $200 has been paid and that through the purchase of milk, butter, eggs and other household goods bought by Mr. and Mrs. Story from the defendant the remainder of the mortgage was paid. KING OF FEATHERED TRIBE

The Eagle Has at All Times Been Recognized as the Undisputed Monarch of the Air.

Sometimes as you roam amidst the wild scenery of a mountain district your eye will catch sight of a tiny speck that floats high in the air above fell and crag. So distant is it that you can only just make out that it is a bird.

You wonder for a moment what it can be, and then the thought comes to you that you are watching the strong upward flight of the nobles of all feathered creatures, the stately golden eagle.

Not many years ago eagles were quite common in all the hilly parts of England and Wales, but farmers, keepers, and collectors waged war upon them, and now they are rare. Driven from the cliffs south of the Tweed, they traveled northwards to join the comrades in the fastnesses of the Scottish mountains.

Even there they were falling until quite recently to hold their own; but it is now found that they are increasing in numbers. The eagle can never be a very common bird, for like most creatures that are well able to defend themselves against natural foes, he rears but a small family. The hen bird lays only two eggs as a rule, though nests containing three are occasionally found.

But it is no light task even for the hardest of climbers to reach an eagle's eyrie. For their nesting place the parent birds choose a narrow ledge, jutting out only a few inches from the sheer face of a high cliff. Here in a rough home of sticks lined with coarse grass the female lays her bluish eggs mottled with brown and grey. Here, too, the young are tended until they have learnt to use their wings.

The golden eagle is entirely a bird of prey. Only royal fare will suffice for him. Hares and grouse are the chief items in his menu, but he loves young lambs, and sometimes he will take toll even of the fawns of the deer which share the wilds with him.—London Tit-Bits.

A Venus of the Stone Age.

More prehistoric drawings of the Aurignacian period, 20,000 years ago, have been found in the caves of Comblieu, on the Aisne. They include what might be termed a picture of the Venus of the stone age.

This drawing, which is on a fragment of mammoth bone, has been described by Dr. Lucien Mayet at Lyons university. The professor says that the drawing is of two figures, a man and the headless torso of a woman. The man is covered with hair and resembles the prehistoric man of our imagination, but the woman (contrary to H. G. Wells' conception) is of a remarkably high type of figure, and has a slender, graceful waistline, though the hips are somewhat prominent and the general aspect recalls forcibly the early manifestations of Greek art. The woman is in a kneeling posture, the drawing beginning just below the right shoulder and ending below the right knee.—London Times.

ONE MORE CASE IN COUNTY COURT

After Mortgage Dispute Between W. H. Story and Mary J. Dutcher Is Settled.

County court convened this morning at 10 o'clock and the action brought by Minnie Story and another as administratrix of William H. Story, deceased, against Mary J. Dutcher, a mortgage foreclosure, was taken up for trial by Judge Fowler without a jury.

All jurors were excused until Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. There is but one more case to be tried at this term of court, No. 8, Fisher against Duffner, an action on contract, being announced as settled when the case was called this morning.

No. 17, Colonial Works, Inc., against Daniel J. Murphy, an action on a note, is the only remaining case on the calendar which will be tried.

The action which was taken up for trial is an action to foreclose a mortgage for $600 given by defendant to plaintiff in May 1908. Minnie Story, plaintiff is a daughter of Mrs. Dutcher. The defense set up in the action is that $200 has been paid and that through the purchase of milk, butter, eggs and other household goods bought by Mr. and Mrs. Story from the defendant the remainder of the mortgage was paid. There are a number of receipts given and the case involves a great deal of computation.

Judgment is asked in the sum of $600 with interest from May 29, 1908 to date, which amounts to $504.60. John W. Eckert appears for plaintiff who resides in the town of Shandaken and Judge William D. Brinnier, Jr., appears for defendant.

KING OF FEATHERED TRIBE

The Eagle Has at All Times Been Recognized as the Undisputed Monarch of the Air.

Sometimes as you roam amidst the wild scenery of a mountain district your eye will catch sight of a tiny speck that floats high in the air above fell and crag. So distant is it that you can only just make out that it is a bird.

You wonder for a moment what it can be, and then the thought comes to you that you are watching the strong upward flight of the nobles of all feathered creatures, the stately golden eagle.

Not many years ago eagles were quite common in all the hilly parts of England and Wales, but farmers, keepers, and collectors waged war upon them, and now they are rare. Driven from the cliffs south of the Tweed, they traveled northwards to join the comrades in the fastnesses of the Scottish mountains.

Even there they were falling until quite recently to hold their own; but it is now found that they are increasing in numbers. The eagle can never be a very common bird, for like most creatures that are well able to defend themselves against natural foes, he rears but a small family. The hen bird lays only two eggs as a rule, though nests containing three are occasionally found.

But it is no light task even for the hardest of climbers to reach an eagle's eyrie. For their nesting place the parent birds choose a narrow ledge, jutting out only a few inches from the sheer face of a high cliff. Here in a rough home of sticks lined with coarse grass the female lays her bluish eggs mottled with brown and grey. Here, too, the young are tended until they have learnt to use their wings.

The golden eagle is entirely a bird of prey. Only royal fare will suffice for him. Hares and grouse are the chief items in his menu, but he loves young lambs, and sometimes he will take toll even of the fawns of the deer which share the wilds with him.—London Tit-Bits.

Good Base Running Wins For Locals—Bott Gets Only 2 Hits For Them—Titular Honors Possible For Home Team.

Kingston High School fought its way from the wall by beautifully defeating Poughkeepsie High School Tuesday afternoon, at the Fair Grounds, by a 4-2 score. If the locals defeat Newburgh Academy Saturday a play-off will be held on some neutral field, either Newburgh or Saugerties, between Kingston High and Poughkeepsie High.

The turn-out for the game Tuesday of high school students and the faculty was the best ever witnessed by K. H. S. sport followers. The number of admissions totaled about 500 high school students and about that many more citizens. Led by vivifying music of one of the local bands the students marched the entire distance from the school to the Fair Grounds and this display of school spirit greatly aided the team in its sensational victory.

In the first inning the Poughkeepsians scored two runs and registered great joy. Then when the Kingston contingent took the stand at the bat two men were struck out in consecutive order. Muller and Stumpf. At this accomplishment the Poughkeepsians went wild. Whiston was walked; Vogt was walked and Whiston proceeded to second. Then John Bott was in the box. Passing a couple of balls Bott awaited his opportunity for a perfectly grooved ball. The opportunity came and John leaned on the sphere which curved over to right field and just cleared the little flag on the fence. To the spectators it seemed as though the ball would land foul, but when it was terminated on the fair side of the flag pandemonium broke out and Whiston and Vogt trotted leisurely homeward with Bott tagging every sack. It is said that Bott's home run marks the second such event to have taken on the right hand side of the field in the history of the new Fair Grounds.

The next seven innings featured some spectacular infield play and pitching duels between Baker and Caunitz. Vogt, who replaced Whiston as catcher, the latter not being entirely over his recent injuries received during practice, pulled some excellent throws to second base where Stumpf caught the runners for easy outs.

It was in the last of the eighth inning that Caunitz brought in the last run. On Gunn's error, made by the fumbling of the ball on a little bunt in front of the home plate, Lester galloped to first. Watching his opportunity he spiked down the path between first and second. Then Muller singled to the shortstop who, on a fielder's choice, threw to second and caught Caunitz off the bag. Caunitz, however, essayed a long slide to the sack and gave the custodian a iron rick. Williams declared him safe. Then on the cue from the man coaching on third he gained that post. At this moment Muller was caught off first base and perceiving that he could not safely regain the base he started on a quick sprint to second. Coffey, the first sacker, threw to Shorter, the second sacker in an attempt to get him out. Here is where they made a mistake. For Caunitz cleared his plate and reached there a few seconds before the ball was thrown to Gunn's glove from second. Muller was safe on second, but save for the run which was brought in by his feat his presence was of no avail, since the next two men landed.
